BIOGRAPHY

Iola Clatsver is one of the most inspirational musicians of the present day. As a pianist and arranger, Iola has a unique way of interpreting classical music.

Iola's piano journey started at age 5 on the Eastern coast of the Baltic Sea. Classical piano training in music school created the solid foundation of Iola's passion and talent for music. Iola grew up listening to a variety of musicians and genres that have played an influential role in shaping their signature sound. She often performed at various school competitions. Iola also joined choral groups and played in several pop-rock bands during her teen years. She began teaching piano lessons and undertaking live performances as early as age 16.

After graduating from university, Iola moved to England to pursue her passion for music. She perfected her technique and received advanced training in London. Focusing her studies on musicology and music production, she also continued to develop her own style as a solo artist.

Combining passionate performance with raw talent, Iola Clatsver is an influential Classical Musician. Her musical repertoire contains the piano arrangements of famous classical masterpieces with elements of the new age genre. Despite her triumph in the new age genre, Iola often plays classical recitals.

For some, music is just a way to let out a little bit of energy, but for Iola Clatsver it's so much more than that—it's a way of life.
